Two freak fires leave couple with nothing

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A COUPLE have been left "devastated" after two fires in three days destroyed their home and all their possessions.

David Sayer and partner Sue Broomfield have been left with little more than the clothes they stand in after the bungalow they shared for almost two years in Haverhill's Crowland Road was badly burnt during two freak incidents.

David, who suffers from schizophrenia, first noticed something was wrong last Friday after he returned to the council property from a walk and found a pipe had burst.

The 43-year-old said: "I got back and water was flooding from the loft. Sue smelt burning coming from the roof and called the fire brigade.

"There had been a fire in the loft but it was out when they got there. They switched off all the appliances and we were told to leave everything behind."

David and Sue, 42, who works at Percy Dalton's peanut company in Haverhill Business Park, then paid to stay in a B&B in the town while the damage was repaired.

But on Sunday, shortly before 10pm, they received a phone call from firefighters saying that a more serious fire, which had started in the bungalow's bedroom, had taken hold that evening.

David said: "We went down to the bungalow but they wouldn't let us close - it was so upsetting.

"There were two fire engines, two police cars and crowds of neighbours watching.

"It was absolutely devastating, particularly for my girlfriend. I think we are both still in a state of shock."

The fire was put out and luckily did not spread to neighbouring homes. Suffolk police confirmed the fire was being treated as suspicious.

The couple did have basic contents insurance but, due to the ongoing investigations by the emergency services, are as yet unable to make a claim and cannot gain entry to see if anything is salvageable.

David added: "We have been told there is little left. We lost some items like two laptops, cameras, jewellery and all our clothing, but we also lost things we won't be able to replace like photographs."

St Edmundsbury District Council have now provided temporary accommodation for the couple but help from charity and the public is needed to support the pair.

The family have been helped in their mission to build a new home by REACH - a charitable community projects group which runs a furniture bank for disadvantaged people from Hollands Road.

The group will donate what items it can to the cause.

If you can help David and Sue get back on their feet, contact the Weekly News on (01440) 703891 or REACH on (01440) 712950. Alternatively, email info@reach-cp.org

Cash windfall within REACH

A GROUP that helps disadvantaged people get back on their feet has been short listed for a £2,000 award.

REACH community projects, which operate a food bank, furniture bank and debt advisory service from Falconer Road in Haverhill, has made it through to the final five of the Co-operative's Big Community Vote.

Co-op members can now vote online for the local charity most deserving of the charity windfall.

Henry Wilson, REACH leader, said the group relied entirely on voluntary donations to keep operations going.

He said: "We applied back in April to be considered for the prize and we had to state what we were going to use the money for.

"We decided we would use it for our furniture bank which is the busiest part of our operations, where we provide families with furniture free of charge.

"The money could make such a difference with rising fuel costs and it could even employ someone so they can work extra hours."

Only Co-op members can vote at <http://bigcommunityvote.co-operative.coop/> but you can also become a member on the site and support REACH. Mr Wilson added: "The amount of good furniture in the recycling centre is amazing - we can put that to good use."

Love and marriage shines on villagers

A FAMILY-friendly fete was the highlight of 10 days of community fun in a Suffolk village.

The annual Meadowlark celebrations in Kedington, which began back on Friday June 3, have featured a range of entertainment options including a community quiz, a performance from St Edmundsbury male voice choir and brass quintet, an under-8s football tournament, a darts competition and bingo and film nights.

But on Saturday, proceedings came to a climax with an afternoon of outdoor activities on Kedington's Great Meadow.

Festivities got under way at 2pm after Miss Meadowlark had travelled round the village in a horse and carriage, accompanied by her attendants, in the traditional method of telling the locals to come to the event.

The theme for 2011's Meadowlark was 'love and marriage' through the ages and was depicted in a special opening pageant with costumes marking each age and love story.

Other attractions were the Haverhill Silver Band, birds of prey, a dog show, quad bikes, a bouncy castle, arena events, stalls, a clay pigeon shoot and food and refreshments.

The 43rd Meadowlark was rounded off on Sunday with a family picnic and songs of praise organised by Kedington Community Association.

£1,000 surprise boost to Aiden's fund for op

FREEMASONS have donated £1,000 towards medical treatment in the US for a disabled toddler.

Parents of Aiden Thomas need to raise £40,000 to pay for an innovative surgical procedure in St Louis after their 17-month-old son was diagnosed with cerebral palsy in March.

Victoria Thompson, 31, and partner Gareth Thomas, 26, had told the Weekly News earlier this month how they hoped the spinal operation would allow Aiden to grow up together with his identical twin Owen.

After reading our story, Freemasons in Cambridgeshire have decided to give £1,000 to make the trip happen.

Spokesman Peter Sutton said: "Several of us read about Aiden and we thought it was a very worthwhile cause.

"It's a huge target, but I hope this will get the ball rolling. They are now up to £4,000 and I hope others will want to support young Aiden."

He added: "I am a twin myself, so it was very relevant to me. I just hope Aiden will be able to make the progress that his brother will make."

The cash will come from the branch's Care and Relief fund, which donates about £12,000 a year to deserving local causes.

Miss Thompson, of Sperling Drive, Haverhill, who gave birth to Aiden and Owen on New Year's Day 2010 at The Rosie, said: "We were completely amazed by this donation."

"We turned on the computer and saw £1,000 had been put into Aiden's account. It was overwhelming."

"We have emailed back to say thank you and I'd like to say again that a lovely surprise it was. It's really got our fundraising going and people have been incredibly generous."

If the money is raised, Aiden will be added to a waiting list at St Louis Children's Hospital, where surgery and 18 months of intensive physiotherapy could solve his problems.

The operation – selective dorsal rhizotomy – is rarely funded by the NHS in England and when it is occasionally carried out in Bristol, it is only done from the age of 4 – at which point the condition can have become more serious.

Details of fundraising events will be announced on www.aidensfootsteps.co.uk, where donations can also be made. You can also donate at <http://www.justgiving.com/aidensfootsteps> via the Tree of Hope children's charity, or by texting AIDA01 and the amount you wish to contribute to 70070.

Rockin' on for hospice funds

BANDS are set to entertain the crowds at a live music event in a Suffolk village.

It will be held at the West Wrattling Recreation Ground on Saturday, June 25 from 3pm, in aid of East Anglia's Children's Hospices and the village's sports pavilion.

There will be a live jazz band as well as blues, indie and rock acts. It will also feature a barbecue, bar, raffle, tractor rides, a bouncy castle, face painting and games.

Admission is free but donations are welcome.

Fair fun for church cash

A SUMMER fayre and nearly new sale will be held to raise money for a church in need of repair.

The event is at St Mary's Church in Haverhill's town centre from 10am to 2pm on Saturday, June 25. It will feature a tombola, raffle, refreshments, homemade cakes, gifts and crafts, and a plant sale.

St Mary's hope to raise money to pay for essential maintenance, including the restoration of a stained glass window.

Take tour of gardens

VILLAGE gardens will open to visitors at an annual event in aid of a church's restoration.

Castle Camps will host the event, organised by New Friends of All Saints' Church, on Sunday from midday through to 6pm.

Tickets are £4 with children free, and tickets include a map and description of the gardens.

Refreshments are available and proceeds go toward the restoration of All Saints.

Police probe house blaze

ARSONISTS may have been responsible for a bungalow blaze.

Firefighters put out the flames in a bedroom on Crowland Road in Haverhill after being called out shortly after 9pm Sunday.

The cause of the fire was suspicious, according to a fire service spokesman, who also said police were investigating.

Warning over fire and shortcuts

A SERIES of fires in school grounds over the past two weeks has led Haverhill police to issue a warning to offenders. Although the blazes – believed to be the result of people lighting camp fires – have only happened in the grounds of Parkway Middle School in Park Road, officers are concerned that illegal use of school grounds is becoming more widespread.

There have also been incidents of nuisance reported in the town at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Eastern Avenue and at Place Farm Primary School in Camps Road, where people use the school grounds as a short cut from Camps Road to Crowland Road. Pc Mike Potter said: "It is an offence to cause a nuisance on educational premises, which should be used in school hours and not afterwards. "School grounds are not there for short cuts or camping."

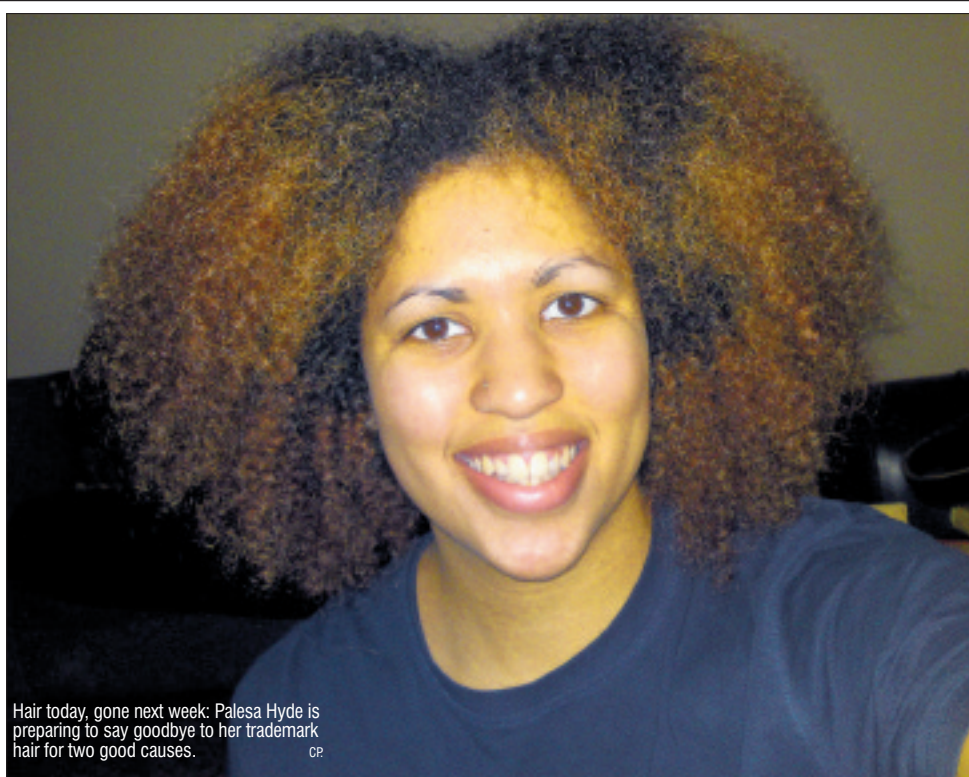

Hotel visitors get grand tour

COMPANIES, residents and suppliers were invited to a hotel's open day to celebrate a successful community business.

The Days Inn Haverhill, in Phoenix Road, hosted the occasion to show visitors the facilities which have developed over the four years it has been in the town.

There were complimentary cream teas on offer in the newly refurbished Kingfisher Lounge and bar area at the event on Monday led by Donna Revell, general manager and Taro Rawles, senior guest service manager.

And Louise Cohen, from the Weekly News, won a bottle of champagne in a prize draw.

Locks to go for causes close to Palesa's heart

A LIFEGUARD will make a huge and hair-raising sacrifice for charity this month.

Palesa Hyde, of Duddery Road, Haverhill, is preparing to have her head shaved in aid of Cancer Research UK.

The 25-year-old, who works at Haverhill Leisure Centre, will then go a step further by donating her hair to another charity, Locks of Love, which provides hair pieces to children who have lost their own due to a number of medical conditions.

Palesa said: "I have wanted to do something for charity for some time but I didn't know what to do.

"My friends said 'go for a run' but I hate running – so I decided to cut my hair off.

"As the date is drawing nearer it is starting to dawn on me how little hair I will have left.

"My hair is sort of my trademark so it will be strange not to have it, but it will grow back."

Palesa, who hopes to raise £1,500, said she wanted to support the charities as her aunt, Gwen Sevier, died last year from pancreatic cancer in her early 60s.

She added: "It is a cause close to my heart and I would love to raise as much money as possible."

The lifeguard will have her hair cut on Saturday, June 25, in the leisure centre and donations can be made via www.justgiving.com/palesa-hyde

MBE honour for charitable Eddie

A CHARITABLE man from Haverhill is celebrating after joining the likes of Bruce Forsyth and Colin Firth on the Queen's Birthday Honours list.

Eddie Stevens, who has lived in Hanchett End for 33 years and has two daughters and four grandchildren in the town, will be awarded an MBE for his work as housing services director for the City of London authority, which provides local government services for the financial and commercial heart of Britain, as well as his work in the voluntary sector.

For the past six years the 66-year-old has worked with Broadway – a charity that helps the homeless.

He said: "We try to make sure no-one sleeps on the streets of London, that we place people in care, that there's a bed for everybody, and we try to find ways that people can move on with their lives.

"If we put people into housing we also put support systems around them."

Mr Stevens, who in his job looks after the iconic Barbican estate, built in the 1960s to ease the capital's housing problems, received a letter from the Prime Minister's Office two months ago asking for his approval for his name to be put forward as an MBE candidate, but said he then forgot about it until the official announcement on Saturday.

He said: "I'm amazed that I've been given an award.

"In my job I'm responsible for the Barbican, and I also do work helping the rough sleepers in the City, but I don't think I deserve anything."

Mr Stevens had retired aged 45 from running a gas service and maintenance company but spent just one year away before becoming a building maintenance surveyor for Huntingdonshire District Council, from where he was headhunted to work for the London authority in 1996.

'Lowlives' take charity funds

"LOWLIFE" thieves have broken into an Indian restaurant and stolen £800 from a charity box.

The raid happened at around 1.15am on Wednesday at the Raj Mahal in Haverhill's High Street. Burglars broke through a skylight in the kitchen roof and stole the charity money, along with three nights' takings from the till, which was around £2,100.

The £800 was collected over a number of weeks as staff deposited a proportion of their tips into a box – clearly marked "for charity" – at the end of each night.

The restaurant would then give the cash to various worthy causes in the area.

Amir Hussain, manager of Raj Mahal, said he was shocked by the theft.

He told the Weekly News: "This is the first time since we arrived in 1999 that we have been broken into.

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"I am glad that it was only money that was taken and no damage was done, but I am angry that they took from charity.

"There are people living locally who really need help and any burglar who steals from charity must be a real lowlife.

"I sometimes worry what society has come to – it seems like people have lost their feeling for each other and their morals. That is really the bottom rung of the ladder."

Officers from Suffolk police were called to the restaurant later on Wednesday when the theft was discovered by an employee.

It is believed the thieves gained access through the rear car park and up an exterior stair case

"I sometimes worry what society has come to – it seems like people have lost their feeling for each other."

– Amir Hussain

before breaking in through one of two skylights in the roof and snatching the money – leaving just £3 in the till.

Mr Hussain added: "Someone may have seen what happened from houses nearby as the thieves came or went.

"I am willing to put up a cash reward for anyone who helps get this money back."

Anyone with information should contact CID at Bury St Edmunds Police Station on (01284) 774100.

For sight: Sue Packer, Richard Howitt MEP, David Wright, Joanna Williams and Linda Power with a poster for the Glaucoma Awareness campaign. Glaucoma can be treated but it requires an eye test to detect the disease

One test could save your sight

A CAMPAIGN has been launched in Haverhill by the region's MEP to raise awareness of the eye disease glaucoma.

Suffolk and Cambridgeshire's representative Richard Howitt met local optometrist Joanna Williams at Wardale Williams opticians in the town, and unveiled a special Glaucoma Awareness banner.

The campaign urges people over the age of 40 to have their eyes tested every two years to check for signs of the illness, which is the leading cause of preventable blindness in the UK.

Last week was national Glaucoma Awareness Week.

More than 5,000 people in Suffolk have glaucoma – a condition with no overt warning symptoms – and Mr Howitt was stressed that everyone is at risk of the disease, but a simple eye test leading to early diagnosis

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

can prevent blindness.

The Labour politician said: "Seeing is believing" is definitely not the case with glaucoma.

"Your vision may appear normal yet your eyes could be unhealthy. That's why a visit to the opticians for a regular check-up, whether or not you think there is anything is, wrong is so important.

"An eye test isn't just about getting glasses – think of it as an MOT for your eyes that could end up saving your sight."

David Wright, from the International Glaucoma Association, also made an appearance in Haverhill at the event last Friday.

He told Mr Howitt, who is vice president of the All-Party Parliamentary Disability Group and works closely with charities supporting the blind and partially sighted, that glaucoma was on the increase in the region, due in part to the rapidly aging population.

Mr Wright said: "A comprehensive eye test for glaucoma including all three glaucoma tests is painless, quick and amazingly good value for money when compared with the consequences of losing your vision."

Joanna Williams, from the independent opticians Wardale Williams in Camps Road, added that it was important to raise awareness of glaucoma and she was delighted to be able to help her MEP.

She said: "Glaucoma is a very serious eye disease and people often don't know they have it until it gets too serious."

"It is important to have your eyes regularly checked."

To make an appointment at the Haverhill branch, email Haverhill@wardalewilliams.co.uk or call (01440) 761922.

Castle Hill will close

AN ARTICLE in last week's Weekly News regarding changes to local education incorrectly stated that Castle Manor school was due to close as part of the switch from a three-tier to a two-tier system.

It should have said Castle Hill.

We apologise for the error and any confusion caused.

Choral evening on Sunday

AN EVENING of choral music by performers of all ages is headed to Haverhill.

On Sunday, the town's arts centre in High Street will host a concert from both the Haverhill Choral Society and a special Samuel Ward Academy vocal group featuring students from the local school.

The event will be a particularly busy one for 16-year-olds Steven Huckfield and Lewis Tingey, who are not only two of the youngest members of the bass section of the choral society, but are also part of the talented school vocal group under the directorship of Olivia Furse.

The music students have already appeared as part of the string quartet, Perfect Fourth, as well as being part of the orchestra for the Centre Stage production of Oklahoma! In August they will tour Spain with the Suffolk Youth Orchestra.

The concert, which is part of the Haverhill Festival, will start at 7:30pm in the main hall of the arts centre.

Tickets are £6 and can be booked from the box office by calling (01440) 714140.

Broadband network gets £10m boost

COUNCILLORS have agreed to invest up to £10 million to build a better broadband network in Suffolk.

At an extraordinary meeting of Suffolk County Council's cabinet, councillors were joined by Suffolk's MPs, plus business and community figures to agree the four-year funding package.

The council says the investment will strengthen Suffolk's chances of getting financial support from the Government's broadband delivery body.

It is hoped that Broadband Delivery UK (BDUK) will now provide funding from the £530 million the Government has set aside for broadband projects around the country.

Council leader Mark Bee said: "Today we sent a very clear message about Suffolk's intentions and commitment to delivering better broadband."

"The county council, borough and district councils, MPs and local business leaders have come together to make this happen for Suffolk and the county's residents."

"While the county council is taking the lead, this is very much a team effort which is vital to our success."

The council says delivering the £41.7 million project will help businesses, improve educational attainment and remove a major block to public service transformation.

Jumbo zumbathon is one for the books!

Zumba fans: class instructor Stacey Hunt with the rest of the team who travelled to London.

Picture: Warren Gunn 743779

A TEAM of 43 women from a local fitness club have taken part in a record-breaking zumbathon.

The event, held in Twickenham, London, on Saturday saw almost 5,000 participants take part in the biggest outdoor dance fitness event ever.

And Stacey Hunt from Real Bodies Health and Fitness in Haverhill led members of her zumba class as they joined in the three-hour party to raise money for the Meningitis Trust.

The instructor at the Hollands Road gym said: "I heard about the event a while ago when I got a letter through saying they were trying for the biggest ever in Europe. I told all my classes and they were excited to get involved."

"It was an absolutely brilliant atmosphere and everyone loved it and wants to do it again next year."

The zumbathon attracted so many people that it will feature in the Guinness Book of World Records next year.

Stacey, 22, of Stockley Close, Haverhill, added: "The Meningitis Trust is particularly close to my heart because when I was 14 I was diagnosed with Meningococemia, which is an acute and potentially life-threatening infection of the bloodstream."

"I experienced at first hand the care offered in the Addenbrooke's paediatric intensive care unit and I would love to help."

Stacey and her friends raised more than £5,000 for the charity – surpassing their £3,500 target. She said: "I would like to thank Real Bodies for providing water and protein bars. Ruffles for providing the coach, Xcel print for the T-Shirts, and everyone who took part and their sponsors for helping raise so much money."

Money was also contributed by Barclays Bank and Haverhill's Bar Vu helped with sponsorship and support. Donations can still be made at www.justgiving.com/Realbodies.

Fire service cuts finalised

BY ADAM LUKE and JORDAN DAY

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

RADICAL plans to re-structure Suffolk's fire and rescue service have been finalised.

Bosses at Suffolk County Council will meet next week and have been recommended to approve a number of cost-cutting changes to the service by fire chiefs – despite widespread objections.

Union leaders have hit out at the proposals, announced on Monday after a 12-week public consultation where residents could have their say about the £1.5 million cuts, one of which will see huge changes to the way Haverhill Fire Station is staffed and operated.

The station in Lordcroft Lane will no longer have full-time firefighters between 8am and 6pm seven days a week, and will instead have them only Monday to Friday, with on-call firefighters picking up the slack at weekends.

There will also be a reduction in staff who teach fire safety and prevention across the county.

Andy Vingoe, chairman of Reductions in fire safety staff and cuts at Haverhill station urged

Suffolk Fire Brigades Union, said: "We're extremely disappointed that despite more than 1,500 consultation responses – the majority disapproving of the cuts – they're going ahead with them."

"It's going to make people feel less safe and it is going to delay several appliances in Haverhill – their response will be slower."

"It could be disastrous but let's hope it's not."

Fire bosses have made only one concession from the original plan to save money, with Felixstowe's full time firefighters kept on at the same level as Haverhill's rather than being binned altogether.

Andy Fry, Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service's Chief Fire Officer, said: "I would like to thank sincerely residents, business people, councillors, firefighters and trade union officials for contributing in such large numbers to this important consultation on proposed changes to their fire and rescue service."

"The consultation responses have proven very useful as a means of challenging the thinking behind our original proposals."

"People are, quite rightly, very interested in changes to fire and rescue service arrangements."

"It is therefore important that in developing details of changes, a proper balance is struck between achieving savings in a very difficult financial environment and continuing to deliver services that meet the needs of people in Suffolk."

"I believe that what we are recommending to Cabinet members sensibly achieves that balance."

If agreed at the cabinet meeting at 11am on Tuesday, the changes will be implemented in stages over the next few years.

Thanks for a great season

Sir, As chairman in what was my third end-of-season club presentation at West Wrattling Youth, I felt a big thank you was on the cards!

Last week's event was probably the most relaxed occasion in the eight seasons I have been associated with this club. We felt the superb atmosphere generated was down to the hard work, dedication and commitment applied by our collective of parents for their support and by the officers of the club in their administrative, management or coaching duties throughout the season.

Of course, this dedication stems initially from the 'want' to be supporting our own kids who yearn to play football, enjoy football, be part of a team, put on the kit and boots week-in, week-out to emulate the soccer stars around the globe! Yet these parents all go on to support their child's team, their club and the people – which maintains the progress that our village club has made in the past eight years.

In 2004 there were two youth teams (22 players) at West Wrattling. Now we have eight age groups from under-7 to under-16 going into 2011-12 – great progress by all who have participated and helped build a model and structure that provides progressive, enjoyable football.

The club has retained Charter Standard Status after a health check last season, featured in the Football Foundations 2011 report and it has been commended by Cambs FA, Colts and Mini Soccer Leagues for conduct on the pitch – and off it.

The club is in solid financial order, and next season will be purchasing new coaching equipment and additional mini soccer goals.

We also will be investing in our current soccer coaches, who will take their age-appropriate FA Modules or Level 2 badge, which will ensure every child receives the benefit of the FA Guidelines in youth soccer coaching, which is vital.

Yet again this season, a handful of players have moved on to Professional Club's Centre of Excellence which is fantastic news as it opens up the door for new players to become involved in our club.

So, thank you for your continued support plus congratulations to all the players for having a great time and playing some super football over the season!

The West Wrattling Youth Football Club AGM is on Sunday at 6pm – when the Season 2011-12 plans will be rolled out. All are welcome to attend.

School needs a safe crossing

Sir, In response to your article about the new Clements Primary School, I reported damage to the corner pavement by the crossing – nothing done yet!

You do need some sort of patrol crossing person. It is amazing that a school has been built near a roundabout. The cars speed out of Cleves Road at times. Are there any signs around "approaching school" or something like that? We can see a chaotic time before and after school with cars, judging by Place Farm School, etc.

The school itself looks like it could be a playground for "big kids" once it closes for the day and during school holidays.

I have reported that the corner of Holbrook Road gets flooded when it rains, I myself have been soaked from head to foot twice. I don't know if it has been looked into or not. Kids will cross before the crossing because of that problem. I thought the fencing would be higher than it is, can't see that will keep people out, more like Clements School was. Hopefully the buses won't be delayed and cause snarl ups all around because of parked cars. It's only twice a day but you can envisage a gridlock all around.

Don't forget you have the other type of crossing by Cleves Road. The road humps that were down before were better than the ones we have now. Cars speed over them and even drive down the middle of the road for whatever reason.

At times cars from the roundabout towards Lady Gate seem to just appear, as they come out of Cleves Road too.

As a pedestrian I have concerns, will there be a speed limit? At times I have to wait for quite a few moments before I can cross because of cars passing. Hopefully it will be stressed to the children on how to cross safely from where they live.

You asked for comments so this is mine – will there be a close watch on all aspects, children's awareness, car parking, cars with people on mobile phones? There are so many problems that come to mind, hopefully everything will pass smoothly.

I am not the only one who has concerns about this. I have, as you asked, aired my views.

Working together: Warren Smyth, chief executive of Abbeycroft Leisure, with fitness instructor Sarah Butcher and group leader Emily Delicate, with members of Haverhill's Wednesdays for Women group.

Exercise can build more than muscle

A GROUP set up to support vulnerable women and their young children has taken part in free exercise and dance classes thanks to a local leisure centre.

Wednesdays for Women – which was set up by a health visitor in 1997 amid concerns that a high number of women in Haverhill's Clements Estate were suffering from post-natal depression – provides somewhere for women to meet other mums.

The group meet at the Leiston Community Centre in Leiston Road every Wednesday, where there is a crèche and regular guest speakers. Currently, around 20 women come along to the group, which receives financial support from Haverhill Town Council.

And Abbeycroft Leisure, which runs Haverhill Leisure Centre in Ehringhausen Way, has stepped in to provide a fitness instructor to teach the increasingly popular zumba – a programme inspired by Latin dance. Teacher Sarah Butcher is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Dance and has taught in Europe and Canada.

She said: "I have been hugely inspired by what this group has achieved."

"Apart from benefiting the women themselves, this group has helped their families, and several members have gone on to either start their own businesses or moved into paid employment as a direct result of their increased confidence gained from coming to the group."

"Group exercise supports confidence building and is a great way to socialise, elevate mood, and keep active."

Emily Delicate, leader of Wednesdays for Women, said: "The group would like to thank Abbeycroft for their support."

"Sarah's enthusiasm is infectious, women that didn't join in before are now getting up and having a go which is fantastic."

For more information on Wednesdays for Women, contact Emily on (01440) 768990.

MP to address wind farm plan

ANGER over the proposed installation of a wind farm in the Stour Valley will reach Parliament this week.

Matthew Hancock, MP for West Suffolk, will speak in a Private Members' Bill debate on the proximity of wind farms to people's homes in the West-minister chamber tomorrow.

The Conservative politician will use the opportunity to air his long-standing opposition to plans to build a BT wind farm on farmland between Stoke by Clare, Clare and Hundon.

The applicant, which calls for permission to construct six 99.5m high wind turbines on one of the highest points in the Stour Valley, has encountered a public backlash from local people who feel the wind farm will harm the outstanding natural beauty of the area, with Mr Hancock now taking these grievances to Westminster.

Ahead of the session, he told the Weekly News: "I'm looking forward to this debate and am glad I will be able to take part."

"Wind farms can be hugely disruptive to the people who live around them, both because of the noise and the appearance."

"The proposed BT wind farm near Hundon, a village on the edge of my constituency, is situated only 750m away from the nearest house."

"This would impact significantly not only on the lives of those who live there but also on the value of their houses."

"I have been involved in the campaign against the wind farm since the plans were announced last year, and I will continue to fight against it on behalf of my constituents."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tim Law feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Cambridge, Ely, Saffron Walden, Haverhill, Royston & Newmarket areas and Tim is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tim a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Just fore fun – and charity too

A FUN day for golfers, friends and families is planned with the goal of raising thousands of pounds for worthy causes.

The annual Charity Classic hosted by Haverhill Golf and Rotary clubs will take place on Saturday, June 25 at the town's golf club in Coupals Road.

The main charity will be St Nicholas Hospice Care, which has received more than £125,000 from the event over the past years. Money will also go toward selected Rotary Club charities and towards the purchase of a defibrillator for the golf club.

Karen Wilby, from the golf club, said: "It will be a fun day for all the golfers.

"As well as main prizes there will be nearest the pin prizes on all short holes, a longest drive competition and a putting competition worth £100.

"A free barbecue will be held on the 9th hole courtesy of J R Humphrey Family Butchers of Clare and there will be a 'double your money' opportunity if you hit the green on the 16th with your tee shot."

The day will conclude with entertainment from comedy stage hypnotist Ian Dee, followed by an auction featuring prizes of tickets to the world superbikes at Silverstone, a Ferrari track day and tickets to Newmarket Races.

Mrs Wilby added: "This would not be possible without the generous support from local people and businesses.

"Special mention this year must go to our main sponsors MPG Printwise, Saffron Insurance, Farewell my Pet, and The Willow Business Centre."

Places are still available for golfers to enter – forms are available from the club and at www.club-noticeboard.co.uk

Fence, wheelie bins burned

A FIRE affecting three wheelie bins and a fence was extinguished by firefighters this week.

The incident happened in Robin Close, Haverhill, on Monday.

A fire engine from the town was called to the scene at 11.24pm.

'Dear friend': Haverhill Tennis Club members gather on court to remember Jessica Gower, who died from bone cancer last December.

Friends gather to remember Jessica

A TENNIS club held a successful charity day to raise money for a worthy cause in the memory of "a dear friend".

Haverhill Tennis Club held the fun day on Saturday with more than £400 going to the Bone Cancer Research Trust following the tragic loss of 14-year-old Jessica Gower last December.

Jessica was diagnosed with primary bone cancer when she was 13 and for 16 months she battled the illness before dying at home.

The money raised will go towards helping the charity promote and fund research into the causes and treatment of the illness and improve outcomes for patients.

Robert Jeffs, a coach at the tennis club said: "We held the event in the name of our dear friend Jessica Gower, who sadly passed away last December.

"The day was divided into two parts, with the morning based on a sports day for family groups with basketball, football, balloon and wiggle car racing to tennis-based games.

"Everyone enjoyed a picnic lunch with lots of tea and cake on offer – kindly donated by parents – and in the afternoon we held a parent-child mini-tennis competition.

"A huge thank you to everyone who helped on the day, baked a cake, supplied something for the raffle, loaned us the courts, took part in any of our games, helped tidy up, donated, or even just turned up for 20

Talented artists brighten up art centre's bistro

PASTEL, oil and watercolour paintings from several local artists have brought a bistro to life.

Haverhill Art Group have unveiled their annual summer exhibition at the café in the town's arts centre in High Street where people can enjoy a coffee while browsing the works – many of which are for sale.

There are more than 70 works on display from around 30 artists who live in the area. They include depictions of Haverhill as well as landscapes, people and animals.

Bill Hubback, from the group, said: "Traditionally this is a very successful event and people enjoy taking a break and seeing what has been created. When people sit in the bistro they are surrounded by art."

"Already, seven paintings have been sold and the quality is very high this year – it seems to keep getting better."

"I would like to thank the town council for their continued support."

The exhibition is free and will run until June 29.

Illegal parkers warned

MORE than 220 motorists have been issued warning notices by police in a six-day crack-down on illegal parking.

The Weekly News revealed last week that following pleas from shops, businesses and residents, officers have agreed to get tough on drivers who park on double yellow lines in the town centre.

And since the decision at a meeting of the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team, the first phase of "education" has been launched in which motorists are alerted to the fact that they are committing an offence and their details are taken for future reference before "enforcement" begins in the coming weeks.

Pc Mike Potter, from Haverhill police, said: "We are conscious the action comes from issues raised by the community at a public meeting, but it is also the members of the community who are doing the parking."

"So we want to carry out education to prevent it as much as possible to begin with.

"There have been flash-points with some individuals, and some have come to our attention more than others"

Police continue to patrol the town centre during the day and plan to involve councils and other organisations to back up their campaign.

Washington who felt that following Mother's Day it was only fair to show appreciation for fathers too, in particular her own father William Smart, who was left to raise six children after the death of their mother.

While groups such as the YMCA were quick to support the concept, it took many years before the occasion was recognised on the calendar, and it was often met with derision or seen as a commercial drive by card sellers.

So what do you get for your dad? Traditional gifts include ties, cufflinks, handkerchiefs and socks, but handmade gifts always go down well. Why not make a card, paint a mug or bake a cake? As food is the way to a man's heart you could take him for dinner, or prepare a home cooked meal.

Whatever your budget, clear the day to spend time with your dad and he's sure to appreciate it.

Have a great day!

MANY U3A members remember, as young adults, the Korean War of the 1950s war and the infamous 38th parallel dividing North from South. All those years ago, the news was about the fighting and not about the people or their ancient culture.

Hang-Jin Chang was introduced as the morning's speaker at the May meeting of the Haverhill U3A, a replacement for Matthew Jackson, to present 'Korean Spirit and Culture Project'. Oxford educated Hang-Jin proved to be an entertaining and persuasive ambassador for the country he loves.

His first short film dealt with the discovery, in October 1966, of a paper scroll, 8cm wide by 6.2m long, printed using woodblocks in 706 AD, called the Great Dharani Sutra.

Korea is now accepted as the origin of this printing process. Even more surprising was the claim of the development of moveable metal type using Chinese characters predating Gutenberg (1397-1468) by 200 years! The Tripitaka Koreana refers to the teachings of Buddha and scriptures, completed in 1251 using more than 80,000 woodblocks, the script so vast it could take 30 years to read! This fascinating set of relics is a national treasure kept in a thousand year old monastery, not just the script printed on paper, but all the original woodblocks expertly treated to survive in perfect condition.

The ancient characteristics of Koreans for precise detail and dedication was established further in the subsequent short films, which showed how gold was intricately crafted, how a written language (Hangul) was created scientifically by (The Great) King Sejong mimicking human speech organ shapes, and how a bell weighing 19 tons and still in use was made in 771AD. Today, widespread use of IT by nearly the whole population, similar in size to UK, as well as the rebuilding of modern cities, is giving Korean youth the impetus to become a major industrial player on the world stage. Hang-Jin's generosity was shown by distributing many copies of a well-illustrated book, Fifty Wonders of Korea, appreciated by many of us wanting to know more about this fascinating country and its cultural history.

Firefighters teach tots about safety

NURSERY children learned about firefighting, protective clothing and equipment during a special class with the fire brigade.

The youngsters at Home from Home day nursery in Burton End, Haverhill, were visited by members of the town's fire crew in their engine, as part of a lesson on fire safety and the 'people who help us'. Hayley Peacock, manager at the centre, said: "The children loved sitting in the fire engine and firing water from the hose. "The firefighters from Haverhill demonstrated different firefighting equipment and the protective clothing they have to wear in a fire and they chatted with the children about how to be safe.

"It was a great way for them to learn about what the fire service does and what they can do to avoid fire - in a fun way."

■ The last two club matches of the Haverhill Angling Club could not have been more different. The first was held on match lake 2 at the Suffolk water park, which saw warm but blustery conditions produce good weights of carp from around the lake with a close-fought battle for first and second. Pete Griggs eventually came out on top with 54lb using a cage feeder, closely followed by Jason Jeggo who caught a 52lb carp in the margins on meat.

Last weekend's match was held on Long Pond at Clare, with overnight temperatures dropping to 4 degrees C. With a wet, windy day ahead it was going to be a struggle. Only one carp showed all day so a change of tactic was needed early on and Dave Rees was the man to show matches don't always have to be won with big weights of carp. His tactic was to use pellet on the pole, catching steadily throughout the day with a bag of silvers made up of roach and bream totalling 18lb, 10oz with the same method being used by second place Dave Pennycook weighing in 17lb, 4oz.

The next match will take place at the flood park on Sunday, June 16. If you are interested and wish to fish in our friendly matches, contact the match secretary, Jason Jeggo, on 07962 055 307. The draw will be at 8am in the usual place.

Thief uses smoking tactic to steal phone

A THIEF who posed as a smoker to get close to his prey is wanted by police.

The offence took place in Haverhill's Cangle Road between 2.20am and 2.30am on Saturday June 11, when a man stole a mobile phone from a bench where two women sat smoking.

A Suffolk police spokeswoman said: "A man approached from Wrattling Road and asked for a cigarette.

"After he had left into the Chalkstone estate the phone was found to be missing."

The suspect is described as more than 6ft tall, of stocky build and appeared to be drunk.

He was wearing a dark hooded top, blue jeans and black trainers.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Carl Edley at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Goodyear EfficientGrip.

Saving Britain fuel, mile after mile.

*Fuel saved per tank calculation is based upon TÜV SÜD automotive data (March 2009, Report # 76236753) on EfficientGrip which demonstrated a 1.9% fuel saving compared to the average of 4 competitors tested on VW Golf 1.9 TSI 105bhp tyre size 205/55R16. One full tank VW Golf 1.9 TSI 105bhp equals 55 litres. Potential fuel saving has been calculated as follows: 55 litres multiplied by 1.9% (average fuel saving gained) x £1.18 (cost of fuel taken from www.theaa.com) = £1.23 saving = price of an average litre. Calculated September 2010. For full TÜV SÜD Automotive information on Goodyear EfficientGrip tyres please visit www.goodyear.co.uk. These gains are indicative results only. Actual vehicle findings may vary depending on the tyre size, when tyres are replaced; driving and road conditions and proper tyre maintenance.

Get ready for start of fantastic festival

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

PREPARE to be entertained as the start of a two-week arts, music and cultural festival draws near.

This year's Haverhill Festival will get under way on Saturday with a battle of the brains in the Festival Quiz at the town's arts centre in High Street, kicking off a series of attractions for all ages.

Highlights include nature walks, a charity pyjama stroll, guided tours round the town, film screenings, BMX riding, break dancing, and a street festival to be held in the town centre on Saturday, July 2.

And there will be an eclectic mix of musical offerings with Bez from the Happy Mondays leading a clutch of famous acts, supported by local groups and artists – offering everything from string quartets and brass bands to rock and roll.

The festival is due to close on Sunday, July 3 with a Last Night of the Festival Proms, featuring the Haverhill Operatic Society and Haverhill Silver Band at the Old Independent Church in Hamlet Road.

Walking tall: the ever-popular street festival will take place on Saturday, July 2. The free fun day is part of the annual two-week Haverhill Festival.

CP

Nick Keeble, leisure manager at Haverhill Town Council, said: "I am looking forward to the festival and it is shaping up well."

"We understand these are difficult times financially but there are a number of free events so we hope people will come along."

"There is a good degree of Haverhill-based talent on show during the two weeks which is always nice to see, and the walks we offer are proving as popular as ever."

Pick up a festival brochure from the Haverhill Arts Centre or call (01440) 714140 to find out about times and tickets.

Crews called in to help medics

FIREFIGHTERS were called to a Suffolk home to help paramedics gain access to a casualty.

An ambulance arrived at the house in Dunster Drive, Haverhill, shortly after 8am on Monday, following reports of a woman having collapsed.

A spokeswoman for the East of England Ambulance Service said: "Paramedics arrived and discovered that a woman had collapsed and was unconscious."

"However, they couldn't get to her and had to call the fire service to gain access to the room she was in."

A fire crew arrived from Haverhill and allowed the lady, who had recovered consciousness, to be taken to Addenbrooke's in Cambridge for treatment at around 8.40am.

T sets herself target to sign up 10,000 donors before she dies

T Sandeman-Charles is one of life's happy people. Posing for the camera, out in her sunny back garden, the 50-year-old is all smiles; it is, she admits, a genuine struggle to keep a straight face.

"I'm an incredibly positive person, always have been," explains T. "What's the point in wallowing? You have to turn the negative into the positive, find the silver linings in the clouds... Yes, bad things can happen in life – but you can't let them hold you back, can you?"

Though you'd never know it to see her today – laughing, joking and seemingly full of energy – T is suffering from two deadly lung diseases; one condition so rare, T is one of only eight patients worldwide known to have it.

Over time, her lungs are getting thicker and tougher, making it increasingly difficult to breathe. Eventually, they will stop working altogether.

"There is no cure," says T. "My condition is irreversible and, over time, it can only get worse. My only chance of survival is a lung transplant.

Battling two deadly lung diseases – one so rare she is one of only eight known cases in the world – T is determined to make her days count by signing up thousands of organ donors. Here she talks to Alice Ryan.

"I'm not on the transplant list yet: there are so few organs available and I can still dress and walk, which, sadly, a lot of people awaiting an organ can't.

"But further down the line I will go on that list. If a lung comes up, terrific; if it doesn't, I'll die. It's as simple as that."

T – who's been known simply as T since she was little, short for her christened name, Teresa – is dedicating the rest of her life to promoting organ donor registration. Within months of getting her diagnosis, she'd set up Save5, a campaign to get 10,000 people to join the register.

"I can't think of anything more worthwhile to do," explains T, who lives in the village of Duddenhoe End, near Saffron Walden.

"It breaks my heart to think that three people die every day because the organ they needed never came up. Three people died yesterday. Three people will die today. And three people will die tomorrow.

"To think of all those families grieving... It must be the pits, knowing their loved one could have been saved; that they were just one organ short of life.

"Did you know that only 28 per cent of the population are on the donor register – yet 97 per cent say they would take a transplant if they needed one? There's a big gap between those two figures, and it's a gap we need to fill."

Since T launched Save5, in March last year, she has signed up 1,323 people to the national donor register; her aim is to recruit at least 10,000 before she dies.

"At the end of the day, I know my own chances of finding a donor are slim, but it's fantastic to think that in the future other people are going to live thanks to Save5. It sounds really grand, but to save someone's life is the biggest, kindest, most generous gift you could ever give."

Before falling ill, T says her life was 'genuinely terrific'. She and husband

Roy met 25 years ago, when both were working behind the scenes for Thames Television: "We actually met on the set of Miss UK. And no, I was not competing..."

They moved to Duddenhoe End 13 years ago, from Surrey, and T says they soon settled in. "The people are so warm," she explains. "If you've got good people around you, you can live anywhere."

T went on to run her own business selling Pampered Chef cookware; building up a team of 300 salespeople, she says it was her dream job. "I'd go into people's houses and do Pampered Chef parties with cookery demonstrations. It was wonderfully sociable: chat, chat, chat! I'm actually not a very good cook, but I like to think people went away thinking 'Shame T was cooking, but what a fun evening.'"

T had been feeling increasingly breathless for years. Her mother had actually suffered from a lung disease; T feared she might have the same one.

"I was an ostrich, I stuck

Positive attitude: T Sandeman-Charles says the only time she gets down is when people don't join the register.

SAVE5: every donor can save up to five lives.

Organ donation: the facts

- More than 10,500 people currently need an organ transplant in the UK.
- About 1,000 people die every year in the UK – that's three every day – while waiting for an organ transplant or because they become too ill to survive an operation and are removed from the list.
- Last year (2009-10), a record 3,709 people's lives were transformed by a transplant – thanks to the generosity of 2,021 donors.
- The first successful transplant was of a cornea on December 7, 1905, in what is now the Czech Republic.
- The first major organ transplant success involved the donation of a kidney between living twins in Boston, USA, on December 23, 1954.
- The UK's NHS Organ Donor Register was launched in October 1994 and by April 2010 included the names of more than 17.1 million people who had pledged to donate their organs for transplant after their death.
- To find out more about organ donation, including the very latest facts and figures, go to www.uktransplant.org.uk my head in the sand. And I was too busy to take time off and go to the doctor. Then, about two and a half years ago, things got so bad even I thought 'Come on, T, you've got to do something about this!'

A trip to the GP followed; after blood tests and an X-ray, T was referred to first one consultant, then another. The doctors knew something was wrong – but they didn't know what.

"I thought I'd go along and be given a few pills to take. But I was referred to Addenbrooke's, then to Papworth. All the time I was thinking 'Come on, then, where are these pills?' ..."

Eventually, more than four months after the medical investigations began, a biopsy revealed that T had not one, but two lung diseases, neither of them the same as her mother's condition.

The first, organising fibrosing pneumonia, causes the alveoli – the little air sacs in the lungs – to thicken, making it harder for them to inflate and allow oxygen into the blood stream.

The second, idiopathic pleuroparenchymal fibroelastosis, is the one which had the experts flummoxed: it is so rare, it has been diagnosed in only eight patients in the world, including T. Affecting the membranes which encase the lungs, it causes them to toughen and become increasingly immovable, making it ever harder for the lungs to inflate.

"The first thing that hits you is shock," says T. "It's a cliché, but it's true: you never, ever think it's going to happen to you. But I started looking for the positives straight away: I wasn't going to let two poxy diseases get me down."

At the same time T was in hospital having her biopsy, her sister Sue was in a hospital bed too – having just donated a kidney to a friend.

"It was Sue who really inspired me to start Save5. I thought what she'd done was incredible: she'd saved and transformed the life of someone who'd been having dialysis three times a day, every day. "And I wanted some good to come out of my situation: something good had to come out of it, otherwise it would be a complete waste me having these diseases."

As well as breathlessness and coughing fits, T admits tiredness is one of the most challenging symptoms of her illness: at the end of the day, she's 'flat out on the sofa'.

Be a lifesaver
Joining the organ donor register is easy: simply go to www.uktransplant.org.uk and fill in the online registration form, or call 0300 123 2323; you can sign up in a matter of minutes. If you decide to register as a result of reading this article, please email T at save5@btinternet.com, so she can add you to her Save5 list.

Last December, T had to make the tough decision to quit work. "I realised I couldn't work and do Save5 at the same time. I thought 'What's most important? What should I be spending my energy on?' and, of course, Save5 was the answer."

T promotes Save5 by running a website (www.save5.org.uk) and travelling across the East of England to speak to business forums, social clubs, Rotary groups ... Her ambition is to spread the word nationwide.

"Because I don't look ill, when I tell people I will die if I don't get a lung transplant you could hear a pin drop," she admits.

"But I don't want people to think that listening to me speak is all doom and gloom – it's fun too."

In fact, spending time with T is a genuine tonic; she has such a contagiously cheery disposition, it gives all those around her a boost.

"My family and friends have been amazingly supportive. They all say 'You can do it!'; they all believe in me. That means so much."

"One little boy I know – he's only 11 – saved up all his pocket money and sent it to me to help fund Save5. He sent me £37 and – oh dear, I'm going to get tearful now – I was so, so touched by that."

"The amount of support I've been given is heart-warming, and hugely humbling."

"The only time I get down is when people don't join the register," continues T. "Most people are very willing; often they say 'I've just never got round to it' or 'I've got a donor card'. The cards are all very well, but what are the chances of dying with your donor card in your top pocket? The best thing to do is join the database."

"This morning I went to speak in Stevenage and eight more people signed up. Every donor can save up to five lives; that's 40 people whose lives could be saved at some point in the future. That's what puts a smile on my face."

T has just been approached to speak to a 2,000-strong audience at the launch of Kidney Research UK's annual London Bridges Walk.

"How exciting is that?" she enthuses. "I could get, say, 500 people signed up all at once! My life is very exciting these days. It's totally different, but it's very exciting."

"And I can honestly say I wouldn't change it. If I hadn't got these two hideous diseases, Save5 might never have been started – and that's a terrible thought. I really wouldn't change a thing."

Hospital will fly flag for patients

BY JORDAN DAY

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

AN innovative project aimed at improving the standard of care orthopaedic patients receive at West Suffolk Hospital is to be showcased nationally as best practice by the Department of Health.

The 'red flag' project aims to ensure that all patients who suffer a hip fracture receive an early diagnosis, expert care on a specialist ward, early pain relief, rapid surgery, good quality nutrition and therapy to help them regain independence.

It is aided by a checklist called a 'prescription of care', which allows staff to put a standard care package in place quickly before fine-tuning it to meet each individual's needs.

To assist communication between staff and ensure that everyone on the ward is aware of which patients are receiving care as part of the project, their names are also highlighted on a central ward board using a red magnet.

Developed over the past two years by the trauma and orthopaedic team, hospital bosses say the initiative has contributed to "significant improvements" against a range of safety indicators, such as reducing pressure ulcers and patient falls.

It has now been selected by the Department of Health as an example of best practice.

Nichole Day, executive chief nurse at West Suffolk Hospital, in Bury St Edmunds, said: "The red flag project allows us to plan and structure the fundamental aspects of care for each patient so that we can ensure it meets their individual needs.

"We are really proud of the project, as it has had a significant impact on the way we care for vulnerable patients while also helping to further improve safety."

Riders in a spin at new club

A NEW free cycling club has been launched to offer people a chance to "enjoy" their hobby.

The Haverhill-based leisure cycling club, which breaks from traditional closed racing groups, was set up by Dominic Harness this month and has already overtaken local group Haverhill Wheelers in numbers to become the largest cycling group in the area.

Mr Harness said: "The club is for people who enjoy cycling but do not want to participate in competitive racing – it is a new target audience that the traditional clubs do not cater for."

"At this time of economic downturn, people are still feeling the pinch and there has been a cycling boom with added green benefits."

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

There is clearly a real opportunity for a new cycling club in Haverhill to thrive.

The club, which currently has more than 30 members, holds local group rides several times a year with routes taking participants along mainly quiet rural roads ranging in distance from 10 to 50 miles. There are no membership charges.

Current members have also been involved in a number of charity rides across Europe.

To find out about rides and more about the club, email HaverhillCyclingClub@mail.com or visit either www.facebook.com/pages/Haverhill-Leisure-CyclingClub/150244511713806 or www.haverhillcyclingclub.webs.com

Floral displays a sight for sore eyes!

AN OPTICIANS has played its part in bringing colour to a part of town which previously missed out.

Wardale Williams in Camps Road, Haverhill, unveiled a display of flowers outside the business this month to rival those elsewhere in the town after campaigning to bring a slice of beauty to an untouched area.

Sue Pecker, from the independent eye specialists, said: "We have updated our shop front and were determined to make the area around it more pleasant for the public.

"We negotiated with St Edmundsbury District Council to move the recycling bins outside to give us room and then we asked Haverhill Town Council to help."

The council provided two planters which they designed to fit in with the floral decorations elsewhere in the town.

Mrs Pecker added: "It is great to bring Haverhill in bloom to this area."

Go green and go wild at town park

YOUNG volunteers interested in conservation work are being encouraged to play a larger role in their community.

Haverhill Volunteer Centre, based in Lower Downs Slade, is set to embark on conservation projects in East Town Park and is looking for 9 to 18-year-olds to lend a hand.

The youngsters would become part of the Go Wild group which meets at the park in Coupals Road and helps Park Rangers with a variety of jobs.

The next meeting on Saturday, June 25, from 9.45am to midday, will involve conservation work and a project allowing participants to make up salad boxes to take home.

The activities are free and booking is essential. Contact the volunteer centre on (01440) 708444 or email info@hvc.org.uk

Test your knowledge and win quiz trophy

A COVETED trophy will be up for grabs at a school's family quiz night.

The Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College Quiz Trophy will be up for grabs on Thursday, July 30 from 7pm at the school in Eastern Avenue, Haverhill.

The event will raise money to build an outdoor classroom and sensory garden for the school community.

Entries are welcome from the wider community, with a maximum of six people in each and entry £10 per team. Contact Castle Manor on (01440) 705 501 for entry forms, to be returned by June 28.

Students remember horror of Holocaust

THE life of Anne Frank has been marked by a school with an alternative act of remembrance and commitment – a Pledge Tree.

This past Sunday, Anne would have been 82 years old had she not died, aged just 15, in Bergen-Belsen concentration camp only a few weeks before its liberation by British troops.

Her story and her face have come to represent the horrors of the Holocaust and her phenomenally popular diary has inspired millions, particularly young people, to strive to make the world a better place.

During Anne Frank's time in hiding in Amsterdam, it was a chestnut tree visible through the only uncovered window that allowed her to watch the changing seasons and passage of time.

And this symbol has been used by students from Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Eastern Way, Haverhill, to celebrate Anne's birthday, with every pupil and staff member making a written pledge, all of which were combined to create a tree.

Alison Weston, community cohesion co-ordinator, said: "I am very proud of how our students, old and new, have come together to create this memorial.

"It just shows how important the memory of Anne Frank is and what an inspiration her diaries continue to be."

Hospice charity's call for more helping hands

A CHARITY'S new volunteer centre is looking for recruits.

St Nicholas Hospice Care, which operates across West Suffolk and cares for patients in Haverhill, has opened a new centre above the hospice shop in St John's Street, Bury St Edmunds, and is hosting an open day on Wednesday, June 22 – from 10am until 7pm – for anyone who can give some of their time to the hospice.

Volunteers are needed for shops, driving, administration, gardening, flower arranging and helping with complementary therapies.

For more information call the centre on (01284) 766416, email volunteers@stnh.org.uk or pop in.

Royal opera

GREAT St Mary's choir and local schoolchildren will perform Richard Rodney Bennett's All The King's Men at the Michaelhouse Centre, Cambridge, on Saturday.

An opera for young people, it features a 35-strong cast of young singers and performers and tells the story of Humpty Dumpty, a siege engine used during the English Civil War to help breach the city walls of Gloucester.

It starts at 7.30pm and tickets are £8 (£5 concessions).

Roll back the years and add top shorts

STEVE Lockwood will be back at the Haverhill Arts Centre this weekend to run one of his famous harmonica workshops.

No matter what your level, from complete beginner to advanced, this session will help improve your playing. With all-new tunes so that those who have been before can come again; harmonicas will be available to buy on the day.

It runs from 10am to 3pm on Saturday.

■ The quiz with a Haverhill flavour returns to open the Haverhill Festival on Saturday and it's open to teams of four. Dust off the brain cells for some questions that will surely never be asked again. Spaces are limited so book your team in early. Fingers on buzzers for an 8pm start at the arts centre!

■ Come along for an evening of fine tunes gleaned from Haverhill Choral Society's extensive back catalogue on Sunday. 150 Years and Counting starts at the arts centre at 7.30pm.

■ Following their Christmas date at the arts centre, Neil Sands returns with a new feel-good show featuring magical memories from the 1940s right through to the 1970s – a time when songs had words you could sing to, you never had to lock your front door and it took five minutes to warm

Bruce Lee as you've never seen him before and a hilarious dog-eat-dog story also feature.

■ As one of the most innovative acoustic guitarists in the UK today and with more than 40 years in the business, Gordon Giltrap continues to delight his audiences with no two concerts ever the same.

Among guitarists and critics, Woody Mann is considered a modern master. While the blues are his touchstone, he draws inspiration from many directions, blending influences with ease and grace. How can you resist two for the price of one! Come along to the arts centre on Thursday, June 23 at 7.30pm.

■ And now for cinema, clad in wigs, make up, fake tan, diamantes and dresses costing thousands of pounds, hundreds of traditional Irish dancers descend upon Glasgow for one drama filled week. In this feature length documentary, Jig (PG) uncovers a world of dedication, hard work, obsession, passion, success and failure. Jiggle this way on Monday at 7.45pm.

All the pilgrims' tales...

THE Pantaloons open-air theatre company are touring the country this summer with their ambitious new version of Geoffrey Chaucer's The Canterbury Tales. Chaucer's journey may have been from London to Canterbury but these travellers have taken a slight detour on their pilgrimage to visit one of the most stunning venues in Cambridgeshire – the National Trust's Anglesey Abbey.

In what may be a theatrical first, The Pantaloons are performing every single one of the 23 completed Canterbury Tales; no mean feat considering the play features a cast of just six actors playing more than 70 characters. What's more, every story will be performed in a different theatrical style. Audiences can expect pantomime, puppetry, masks, musicals, mime, farce, reality television, horror, opera... and even Shakespeare gets a look-in.

■ The Canterbury Tales, Anglesey Abbey, Saturday at 6.30pm. Tickets cost £12.50 (£7.50 concessions) / (01223) 810080 / www.thepantaloons.co.uk.

The big film

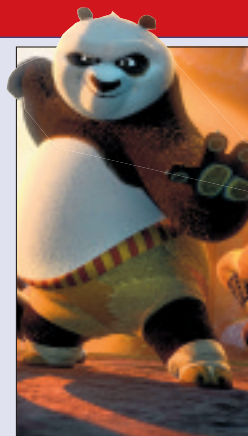

KUNG FU PANDA 2
certificate PG 90m

PREPARE for the return of awesomeness in this energetic martial arts comedy which kicks computer-animated butt and comes close to matching the rumbustious fun of the 2008 original.

Screenwriters Jonathan Aibel and Glenn Berger flashback to overweight panda Po's tortured past as the inspiration for this tale of identity and retribution, taking the story into far darker territory.

However, Jack Black's whirlwind vocal performance provides a generous smattering of belly laughs and the visuals are gorgeous and colourful. The introduction of the 3D format almost warrants the additional ticket price, adding depth to the gorgeous rolling landscapes of ancient China. Younger audiences will get just as much fun though from the traditional 2D version without the discomfort or distraction of the plastic spectacles.

Overweight panda Po (voiced by Black) is living his dream as an all-action bear, honing his skills under the watchful eye of mentor Shifu (Dustin Hoffman). However, he is haunted by fragmented memories, which eventually reveal how his father came to be a goose called Mr Ping (James Wong). It transpires an evil peacock Lord Shen (Gary Oldman) is the cause of Po's deep emotional wounds. Spurred on by a dire warning about pandas from an elderly soothsayer (Michelle Yeoh), Shen and his army of snarling wolves are on a collision course with Po, armed with a deadly weapon that could bring China to its knees. Thankfully, Po can always rely on The Furious Five – Crane (David Cross), Mantis (Seth Rogen), Monkey (Jackie Chan), Tigress (Angelina Jolie) and Viper (Lucy Liu) – to avert disaster.

Kung Fu Panda 2 relies heavily on Black to unleash his verbal fireworks and to continue sparking potential romance with Jolie's kung fu kitty.

Hoffman's comic timing is impeccable and Oldman delivers his lines in suitably Machiavellian tones.

The action sequences are more complex but still fall short of the intricacy of Pixar's most recent pictures.

Hopefully DreamWorks Animation will have learned lessons about animated sequels from Shrek, which dazzled us in its original incarnation but became a creatively empty husk by Shrek Forever After.

Alas, the feel-good revelations at the end of Kung Fu Panda 2 suggest as long as box office tills ring, there will be more chapters in Po's journey of self-discovery.

Heavenly herbs for summer

Herbs create the tastes of summer – basil torn over juicy, mouth-watering tomatoes, dill added to simple fish dishes, chicken stuffed with thyme, coriander added to zingy salsas, mint and parsley chopped up in tabbouleh and other salad dishes.

So many herbs and so little space, those with small gardens might say, but there is always room for a pot or two or even a windowbox of aromatic, flavoursome herbs which will enhance your menus whatever the time of year.

Many exhibitors at this year's gardening shows are of the same

by Hannah Stephenson

opinion. At the forthcoming BBC Gardeners' World Live at Birmingham's NEC, for example, a new Edible Patches section seeks to display innovative ways of growing edible plants in a small space measuring 1.5m x 2.5m – and herbs are right up there with lettuces, chard and spinach.

The unusually hot weather we've had in April and May will have given some herbs a head start. Many herbs thrive in sunnier climates including thyme, rosemary and basil, which historically hasn't grown very well in this country because our summers have been too cool.

Mint grows virtually anywhere, but if you are creating a herb garden, grow it in a pot or it will invade everything else in its path.

If you want your herb garden to look more formal, consider planting dwarf hedges of rosemary or lavender around the edges, or to divide beds. Lavender can simply be sheared after flowering to keep it looking neat and tidy, but don't cut into old wood or it won't grow back.

Standard bays placed in pots either side of a front door or other entrance can create a formal, stylish look and you can also snip the leaves off for adding to pasta sauces and casseroles.

When designing your herb garden, remember that prostrate varieties such as Corsican mint, many thymes and marjorams form mats of pretty foliage to cascade over edges and fill gaps in paving.

And don't think you have to reserve a whole plot just for herbs. You can interplant them in your border to add colour and texture. Clumps of chives, which produce pretty purple flower balls, and sage, with its subtle leaf colours, are ideal for this.

Rock gardens, with gritty, well-drained soil, are also a perfect setting for low-growing herbs such as thyme, of which there are endless varieties, many of which have variegated leaves and produce small flowers in summer.

Basil, which tastes so much better if you grow it yourself than if you buy it from the supermarket, is a tender annual used in much Mediterranean cooking and loves the sunshine. It's best sown into seed trays or modules in a greenhouse and then hardened off and transplanted into a sheltered, sunny spot when all danger of frost has passed.

It does well in pots on sun-baked patios but should be watered whenever dry and the growing tips pinched out regularly to encourage bushy growth and delay flowering. If you are using it, harvest the leaves at the tip of the plant to encourage further bushy growth at the sides.

Sweet basil and bush basil are the common types grown, but you could also try cinnamon basil, anise basil and lemon basil.

Flat-leaf parsley is much more popular these days than the curly-leaf variety because of its more intense flavour. Usually grown as an annual, it can be sown thinly outdoors in rich, moist soil in late spring and again in late summer for succession over winter. Try Giant Italian for good flavour.

Perennials including chives, sorrel, fennel and mint should come up year after year. Annual herbs which need to be raised from seed each year include dill, coriander, chervil and borage. These are best germinated in a greenhouse in spring.

The majority of herbs thrive in sunny, sheltered spots. If you only have a semi-shaded spot available, try growing scented lemon balm, which can be used to flavour sauces for chicken and fish, lovage, a hardy perennial which has a flavour similar to celery, and angelica, a giant herb growing to several metres which can be used to flavour cakes and cooked fruit.

SMELLS OF SUMMER: herbs can be grown in even the smallest of spaces. Basil, left, can be difficult to grow in this country but tastes so much better than the store-bought variety.

Two Counties Motor Show tickets on sale

TICKETS for the Two Counties Motor Show are now on sale at Catherine Jones Jewellery and News offices throughout the region.

Priced at £5 for adults and £2 for children aged 12-16 (under-12s are free), there is a family ticket option (two adults and two children for the price of two adults) available from the News and HeartFM as well.

Tickets can be bought at the News' Queen Street premises and offices in UK first: For the Vauxhall Astra GTC.

Milton, Ely, St Neots, Saffron Walden, Newmarket and Royston.

Money raised from the Two Counties Motor Show goes towards good causes – this year it is the Alzheimer's Society and Centre 33 Cambridge.

Last year it was Teenage Cancer Trust among others.

Ticket holders are set to enjoy a spectacular event which includes the first UK showing for Vauxhall's Astra GTC (see page 47 for details). At purchase each attendee is also automatically entered for a prize draw to win prizes including:

- A Fortis B-42 Black Mars 500 wrist watch sponsored by Catherine Jones Jewellery of Cambridge (www.catherinejones.com)
- Two pairs of tickets for The Wanted at Newmarket Nights on Friday, July 29, as sponsored by Newmarket Racecourses (www.newmarketracecourses.co.uk)

- An adult mountain bike, sponsored by Drive Vauxhall Bury St Edmunds (www.drivevauxhall.co.uk)

- A five-day family pass to David Lloyd Leisure sponsored by Turner's Toyota Cambridge (www.cambridge.toyota.co.uk).

Go to www.cambridge-news.co.uk for full details of the event which takes place on Sunday, June 26.

Mini Coupe is a 'shot in the arm'

MINI is expanding its product family with the launch of a Coupe geared squarely to maximising driving fun.

The first two-seater in its line-up sees Mini not only breathe new life into its successful racing history but also provide a shot in the arm for the super-compact sports car class. The Mini Coupe's engines, chassis set-up, weight distribution and aerodynamic properties all radiate the brand's hallmark go-kart feeling with a whole new depth of intensity to achieve the best performance statistics ever recorded by a volume-produced Mini.

The Mini Coupe can be ordered with the most powerful petrol and diesel engines in the brand's arsenal. Outputs range from the 122bhp of the Mini Cooper Coupe, to the Mini Cooper SD Coupe (143bhp) and Mini Cooper S Coupe (184bhp), all the way up to the Mini John Cooper Works Coupe, a thoroughbred athlete producing 211bhp.

With its distinctive "helmet roof", optimised aerodynamics and impressive storage space, the Mini Coupe is set to offer "outstanding versatility in day-to-day driving, when transporting leisure items or sports gear, and on trips out with a lucky partner".

Due later this summer, the Mini Coupe is sure to be a welcome addition to Elms Cambridge's new purpose-built £8.5 million showroom in Cambourne.

Pricing and other details will be made available in due course.

Vauxhall Astra GTC ready for the road

THIS is one of the first official shots of the new Astra GTC, which will lay down the gauntlet to VW's Scirocco and Renault's Mégane Coupe as order books open at Vauxhall retailers this week.

Closely based on last year's stunning GTC Paris concept, the production Astra GTC enters the UK market – the biggest in Europe for this model – priced from £18,495, nearly £1,100 less than the basic VW Scirocco. But even in entry-level trim, the Astra GTC adopts the sophisticated front suspension from the Insignia VXR, featuring Vauxhall's HiPerStrut (High Performance Strut), combined with the Watt's link rear axle for unmatched stability and handling precision.

The Astra GTC can be ordered with a choice of four engines – one diesel and three petrols.

With 162bhp, the 2.0 CDTi is an upgraded version of the diesel that's fitted to some models in the Insignia and Astra ranges. All engines have a diesel particulate filter, six-speed transmission and Start/Stop as standard. Delivering 380Nm of torque (including overboost function) the 2.0 CDTi engine provides excellent mid-range acceleration and a 0-62mph time of 8.9 seconds and a top speed of 130mph.

That torque also allows the GTC a relaxed cruising gait, meaning a combined mpg of 57.6mpg and CO2 emissions of just 129g/km. Start/Stop and a six-speed gearbox are also standard on both versions of the 1.4-litre Turbo petrol engine. With either 116bhp or 136bhp, the 1.4T achieves a combined 47.9mpg and 139g/km of CO2 emissions.

The most powerful engine in the range is the 1.6-litre Turbo, which produces 176bhp and allows the GTC to hit a top speed of 132mph.

■ Vauxhall's new Astra GTC will make a surprise debut at this year's Two Counties Motor Show on June 26, followed by an appearance at the Goodwood Festival of Speed – more than two months ahead of its official world premiere at the Frankfurt Motor Show.

Strong impression: The Vauxhall Astra GTC.

The Vauxhall Astra GTC: From £18,495.

Mantles Kia Royston Kia Apprentice of the Year

Mantles Kia technician, James Jolly, has just been announced as 'Kia Apprentice of the Year Level 3' after scoring the highest number of points during the manufacturer's tough assessments at the Skillnet UK Automotive Academy in Watford.

Kia carries out annual appraisals on apprentices employed at its main dealer network. These assessments are very thorough. Apprentice technicians are marked on their technical skills and aptitude, the overall quality of their workmanship, the attitude to their work and their progression within the workplace during the course of a year.

The presentation of this prestigious new title is an outstanding achievement for James who found himself up against strong competition from Kia dealer apprentices up and down the country.

Ian Goswell, Dealer Training Manager at Kia Motors (UK) Limited handed the award trophy, an engraved plaque, to James in the presence of the assembled trainers and apprentice finalists at a ceremony held recently at the Skillnet UK Automotive Academy.

James said: "I'm thrilled to have gained this award and thank the whole team at Mantles Kia for their strong support. I really enjoy my job and working for Mantles, and it's great to be working with such an excellent team."

John Roberts, Dealer Principal at Mantles Kia in Royston said: "James has been employed by us for the past four years and his enthusiasm for the job shines through. We congratulate him wholeheartedly on being awarded the title 'Kia Apprentice of the Year Level 3' and we're proud of his achievements. Why not call us on (01763) 244244 to have James work on your car."

John continues: "Right now Mantles Kia is offering servicing from only £99. Although we specialise in maintaining and repairing Kia-built vehicles our team of workshop technicians have all the knowledge and skills necessary to perform work on any make or model of car to an equally high standard. What's more, with Mantles being a locally-based, family-owned business you can trust us to provide you with friendly and attentive customer service at all times."

Head of Business Development

Cambridge | £45-£50k plus bonus

Helping the world COMMUNICATE

At Bell, our business is helping people around the world to communicate in English through first-class learning programmes for adults, young learners and their teachers, both in the UK and overseas. We're one of the world's most respected providers of English language education, and we're in the midst of an unprecedented period of growth and innovation. We're now looking for someone to spearhead our drive for further growth.

In this new role, leading a substantial sales team, you will be responsible both for recruiting students from around the world to come to Bell programmes in the UK and for finding opportunities for Bell to deliver services overseas.

To succeed, you will have an outstanding personal record of business development in a complex, service-based organisation and will also have coached and developed successful sales teams. An inspiring leader, you will almost certainly have had significant international exposure and will possess a high degree of cultural awareness and sensitivity.

Haverhill get three from four

THERE is only blot on Haverhill's record in the Halstead League. In their four games so far, they have beaten Lavenham B 5-4, Hedingham 8-1 and Sudbury A 5-4. However, the 7-2 reverse against Thaxted is the only defeat the regular squad of Adam Fowle, Nigel Fitch, Ross Tobin, Jake Warner, Marcia Armstrong, Lucy Hardwick, Abi Cartright, Rachel Jeffs and Amanda Smith have suffered.

Bowled over!

HORSEHEATH continue their push for a return to Division One of the Adams Harrison Midweek League after thumping Helions Bumpstead.

Their 16-year-old bowlers Dave Lowe (4 for 7) and Tim Jefferies (3 for 4) knifed through the Helions batting, leaving them in shreds at 62 all out.

Horseheath eased in at 63 for 2.

Hundon, however, continue to look impressive, racking up 210 for 4 against struggling Cherry Tree.

James Jolland battered 29 in an over on the way to 80 while Ed Harper (43) and Martyn Farrant (44) chipped in to help post a total that was far too big for Cherry Tree, who wound up at 91 for 9. Safin Malook took 3 for 20.

However, there was drama at Halstead where the home side tied with Long Melford. Chris Raynor (54 not out), Charlie Douglas-Hughes (33), and Mark Johnson (28) helped the home side to 158 for 5 while the visitors lost a wicket more matching the total, thanks to Joe Harvey (41), Ben Bambrook (34) and John Cole (27 not out).

The battle at the bottom of Division One went down to the last ball.

Fulbourn had surged to 152 for 2 thanks to James Kindred (55), Jonno Hartley (54) and Nick Wells (28).

But Babraham scrambled to victory at 153 for 8.

At the other end of the table, Abington made the most of Sawston having a week off to stretch their lead at the top. Skipper Dave Pimblett (29 not out) saw his side home at 112 for 4 after Ray Mordini had scored 40 in Saffron Walden's 111 for 7.

Weston Colville swept to a comfortable win against Haverhill, Fred Scruby (5 for 26) and Josh Smith (4 for 23) putting the skids under the champions as they were skittled for 106 (Adam Dellar 31) chasing Colville's 141 for 6 (Peter Bragg 54, Trevor Westley 49; Dan Poole 3 for 23).

Haverhill II got back on track in Division 3A, scoring 166 for 6 with Sam Hartshorn (42), Micky Rinaldi (40 not out) and Liam Savage (39) getting their runs.

Despite 44 from Russell Davis and 36 from Tony Steel, Wrattling Lions only got to 131 for 4.

The Moulton-Day family did the business for Gestingthorpe in their defeat of Brockley.

Keith Moulton-Day blasted 113 and Chris scored 30 in their 180 for 6 while Bill Moulton-Day took 3 for 0 in one over as Brockley subsided to 167 for 9 despite the efforts of Mark Blackledge (27), Thomas Fenner (39) and Simon Byford (52 not out).

Leaders Shelfords suffered their first defeat of the season in Division 3B.

Jack Squire led the way with 54 in Balsham's 132 for 3 (Tom Daniels and Steve Saunders 26; Phil Smith 3 for 25) and then snapped up 4 for 18 as the leaders slumped to 93.

And there was also last-over drama at Linton where the home side held their nerve to take the last Abington II wicket in the final over when they were one run short of forcing a tie.

James Boulton (38) and Jonathan Gleeson (28) helped Linton to 119 for 6 and then Alex Flynn and Sam Herbert took three wickets apiece as Abington fell agonisingly short at 118, despite Adam Thompson scoring 35.

Haverhill Ladies took their revenge on The Suffolk when they clashed in the Weston competition at Coupals Road. Having lost the Stearn Trophy encounter against the same opposition earlier in the month, the home side managed to turn the tables. In another rain-soaked match, Haverhill edged to a 3-2 win to erase the memory of the earlier defeat.

Details - Weston (Haverhill names first): Mary Sail lost 1 down v Angie Lewis, Pat Kennedy won 5&3 v Trisha Mortlock, Jackie Condon won 5&4 v Bernie Bugg, Denise Walker lost on first play-off hole v Karoline Chan, Anna Fairhead won 2&1 v Kerry Lee. Stearn Trophy (Haverhill names first): Sue Carr and Pat Kennedy 1 down v Angie Lewis and Karoline Chan, Mary Sail and Denise Walker 3 up v Trish Mortlock and Kerry Lee, Jackie Condon and Anna Fairhead 3 up v Bernie Bugg and Joan Plumb. Afternoon: Carr and Kennedy lost 1 down v Lewis and Chan, Sail and Walker lost 2 down v Mortlock and Lee, Condon and Fairhead won 9 up v Bugg and Plumb.

■ Haverhill missed a place in the final of the National Golf Club Challenge – run in aid of the Help for Heroes charity – by just four points. The top 15 scores from the Coupals Road round – 10 from the men's section and the leading five from the women – went forward to see if they qualified for the national final at Turnberry in August. But the club which was 10th overall last year fell short by a narrow margin.

Revenge is sweet for Haverhill

The Roger Turley Putter event was run in conjunction with the National Golf Club challenge, Paul Donno topping a very close stableford competition with 40 points – a score matched by Mark Hilton, who missed out because of an inactive handicap. Jack Bligh took second on countback from Lyn Fish and Marian Mercer after all three scored 39.

The event raised £502.50 for Help for Heroes.

■ Ladies' vice-captain Doreen Darbey battled through dreadful conditions to win the June Smith Silver Salver. She recorded 38pts and has had her handicap reduced by a shot.

Details - 1 Doreen Darbey 38pts, 2 Pat Kennedy 33, 3 Jane Herrington 30pts.

■ Mary Sail has returned to form, coming out top in the women's medal and winning the Ping competition – a 4BBB stableford – with Jackie Condon.

Details - Medal: 1 Mary Sail 87-17-70, 2 Katie Heathfield 94-23-71, 3 Anna Fairhead 93-20-73. Ping competition: 1 Mary Sail and Jackie Condon 42pts, 2 Sarah Field and Linda Bugg 41, 3 Doreen Darbey and Denise Walker 40pts.

Dave Quinney: Lowered the course record at Coupals Road

Quinney turns on style to smash course best

DAVE Quinney has lowered the course record at Coupals Road after recording an impressive gross 66 in the men's midweek medal competition.

However, he did not take top spot, losing out on countback to Chris Vince with a nett 66.

Details - Division One: 1 Chris Vince 69-3-66 on countback from 2 Dave Quinney 66-0-66, 3 Jonathan Moore 81-11-70. Division Two: 1 Michael Barnham 83-16-67, 2 Geoff Bush 85-18-67, 3 Andrew Gage 83-15-68. Division Three: 1 Gary Currel 92-26-66, 2 Mark Hilton 92-28-64, 3 Antony Chao 93-25-68.

■ Haverhill's Chris Vince was third in the Suffolk Amateur Championship at Hinglesham behind two golfers from the host club.

Details - 1 N Overton (Hinglesham) 69-73 (playing off +1), 2 S Debenham (Hinglesham) 73-70 (playing off +2), 3 Chris Vince (Haverhill) 70-73 (playing off a handicap of 3).

■ Richard Grant totalled 44 points to win the men's stableford, and have his handicap trimmed by two shots. Another to have his handicap cut was junior Liam Merritt, who topped Division One and will now play off seven.

Details - Division One: 1 Liam Merritt 40pts, 2 Mick Warren 38, 3 place Harvey Bavester 36. Division Two: 1 Frank Robertson 39, 2 Wayne Smith 37, 3 Paul Donno 36. Division Three: 1 Richard Grant 44, 2 Tony Beasley 40, 3 John Condon 37.

■ Rob Viney, Chris Shipp, Geoff Gallaway and Steve Chandler won the Midsummer Madness competition – a four-ball team event with three scores to count on each hole – with 132 points.

Second in the event, which attracted 60 competitors for a 5.30am start, were Dave Perrett, Mick Warren, Lyndon Brown and Neville Felton (123pts) on countback from Scott Turner, Roger Turner, David Johnson and Harvey Bavester.

■ The early starters had the best of the conditions for the men's medal, which doubled as the final round of the Cecil Darken Trophy, the competition where the best two rounds from the April, May and June medal competitions count.

Sean Doyle came out top in the medal with 89-24-65 – he has had his handicap cut by three – while Andy Softley landed the Cecil Darken Trophy on countback from Geoff Callaway.

Details - Medal, Division One: 1 Steve Miller 81-11-70 on countback from 2 Liam Merritt 77-7-70, 3 Derek Thomas 82-9-73. Division Two: 1 Tim Daniels 79-13-66, 2 Richard Mansfield 84-16-68, 3 Allen O'Donoghue 89-20-69. Division Three: 1 Sean Doyle 89-24-65, 2 R Haylock 92-21-71, 3 Geoff Gallaway 97-25-72.

Webb shows six appeal

Great Scott takes plaudits as young side falls short

Haverhill will be hoping they can get all three aspects of their game firing for the visit of Division One leaders Mildenhall on Saturday.

Although their bowlers once again performed well at Frinton, the batsmen failed again and the fielding was below the standards expected.

But although beaten by 37 runs after a long journey to the coast, there were some plus points to bode well for the rest of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship campaign.

Without opening bowlers Chris Silverwood and Raj Singh, as well as the experienced Bill Moran, Haverhill drafted in Steve Fox, Tom Saville and the debut-making Dan Pass.

That gave them three 16-year-olds and a 17-year-old in their line-up, possibly one of the youngest senior sides fielded in their history.

However, it was Scott Webb who grabbed the bowling limelight after opening pair Dan Poole and Simon Youngs bowled well without luck – Poole had both openers dropped while Youngs was unlucky with a couple of worthwhile lbw shouts.

Webb made the breakthrough, bowling the dangerous Moulton for 42 before claiming all the wickets in the top half of the innings. He wound up with 6 for 64 off 15 overs making sure Frinton had to work hard to get to 191 for 7, a score which left both sides reasonably happy.

Haverhill, though, made a wretched start to their reply, and were quickly 37 for 3. Skipper Adam Dellar (20) and Dave Brown (30) tried to put things right but the side lurched to 105 for 7 and then 115 for 8, before Saville (10 not out) joined Simon Youngs (35 not out) to push the score up to 154 for 8 and, more importantly, six points.

However, the only other Haverhill side to see action over the weekend were the thirds, who suffered their first defeat of their debut season in the Cricket Stick CCA Junior League, Division 6B.

Madingley II racked up 235 for 4 with the Wanderers crashing to 58.

■ As the firsts tackle Mildenhall at home on Saturday (1pm), the seconds travel to Melton St Audrys in Division Six while the Wanderers are at Saffron Walden V.

The following day, the first team are at Edwardstone in the Hunts County Bats Sunday First XI, while the seconds are at home to Long Melford III (1.30pm) in Division Four.

Ellis fighting a solo battle

GARY Ellis stood alone as Horseheath crumbled against Camden II in the Cricket Stick CCA Senior League, Division One.

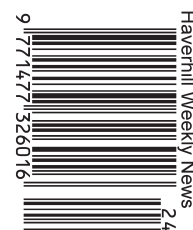

He scored 65 of his side's 77 all out as Michael Griggs wreaked havoc, finishing with 5 for 29 after his early efforts reduced the home side to 11 for 7. Camden cruised to the points at 81 for 3.

■ Adam Taylor hit 44 as Weston Colville dug in for a draw against Abington in Division Two of the Tucker Gardner Cambs and Hunts Premier League. Chasing 223 for 3 (Stuart Duquemin 97 and David Pimblett 93) Colville battled to 162 for 8.
